Kornel F. Ehmann Manufacturing Medal

The Kornel F. Ehmann Manufacturing Medal is presented for the best original journal paper or papers that has/have been presented and/or published by ASME during the two calendar years immediately preceding the year of the award. The paper(s) should clearly demonstrate that the science and engineering technologies outlined in the paper resulted in a significant contribution to the micro- or nano-scale manufacturing processes, systems, or products.

Papers by multiple authors are eligible. The award will be made annually as warranted.

The award was established in 2019 by the Manufacturing Engineering Division of ASME. More details about the award can be found at:
