

Just a quick drive away...

Dilworth

Charlotte's first trolley neighborhood and vision of entrepreneur Edward Dilworth Latta, Dilworth derives its distinct charm from curving lanes of early 20th-century bungalows and mansions. Summon the sommelier for the extensive wine list at Bonterra Dining & Wine Room, set inside a 110-year-old former church, or opt for casual but satisfying fare at Dilworth Neighborhood Bar & Grill.

Don't Miss: Lebowski's Neighborhood Grill, Bad Daddy's Burger Bar

▶ Approximately five minutes from the Charlotte Convention Center

South Park

South Park is one of Charlotte's largest business and residential neighborhoods. Upstream turns the day's freshest catch into delicious Pacific Rim cuisine, while Rooster's Wood-Fired Kitchen puts a southern twist on Spanish, French and Italian dishes.

Don't Miss: AZN Azian Cuisine, Del Frisco's Double Eagle Steakhouse, Georges Brasserie, Harper's Restaurant®, Ruth's Chris Steakhouse®, Maggiano's Italian Restaurant, Wolfgang Puck, Mellow Mushroom, Upstream®

▶ Approximately 10 minutes from the Charlotte Convention Center

Midtown

Boasting the best skyline view in town, the Metropolitan takes full advantage with palatial windows, generous patios and seasonal outdoor concerts. Dressler's delivers on taste and presentation, while Vivace's rustic Italian classics are complemented by a picture-perfect skyline view. The Little Sugar Creek Greenway invites after-dinner strolls or serious workouts.

Don't Miss: Hickory Tavern®, Mama Ricotta's, The Melting Pot

NoDa

A former mill village, the area along North Davidson Street drew young artists to repurpose the area by setting up an arts district about 25 years ago. A walkable thoroughfare encourages visitors to choose from casual spots like Crêpe Cellar Kitchen & Pub and Growler's Pourhouse, a Draft Magazine pick for "America's 100 Best Beer Bars." Close by, Amélie's French Bakery delights with signature salted caramel brownies.

Don't Miss: Heist Brewery

▶ Approximately five minutes from the Charlotte Convention Center

Plaza-Midwood / Elizabeth

Americana with a twist. A drive along The Plaza charms passersby with colorful cottages and cozy front porches with rockers. Nearby, you can rock the night in diners or with divas in an eclectic mix of music venues for any orientation. A tasty standout in this neighborhood, Midwood Smokehouse dishes out mouth-watering BBQ, while Something Classic's homemade comfort classics never disappoint.

Don't Miss: Kennedy's

▶ Approximately eight minutes from the Charlotte Convention Center

South End

Just south of Center City and easily accessible by light rail, South End hums with restaurants, art galleries, special events and pubs. The lines never stop at Price's Chicken Coop where locals covet warm fried chicken. Savor bangers or kick back a pint at Big Ben's Pub or at one of the other nearby pubs. Or for true Carolina flavors, try local barbecue at Mac's Speed Shop where motorcycles and Mercedes mingle in the parking lot.

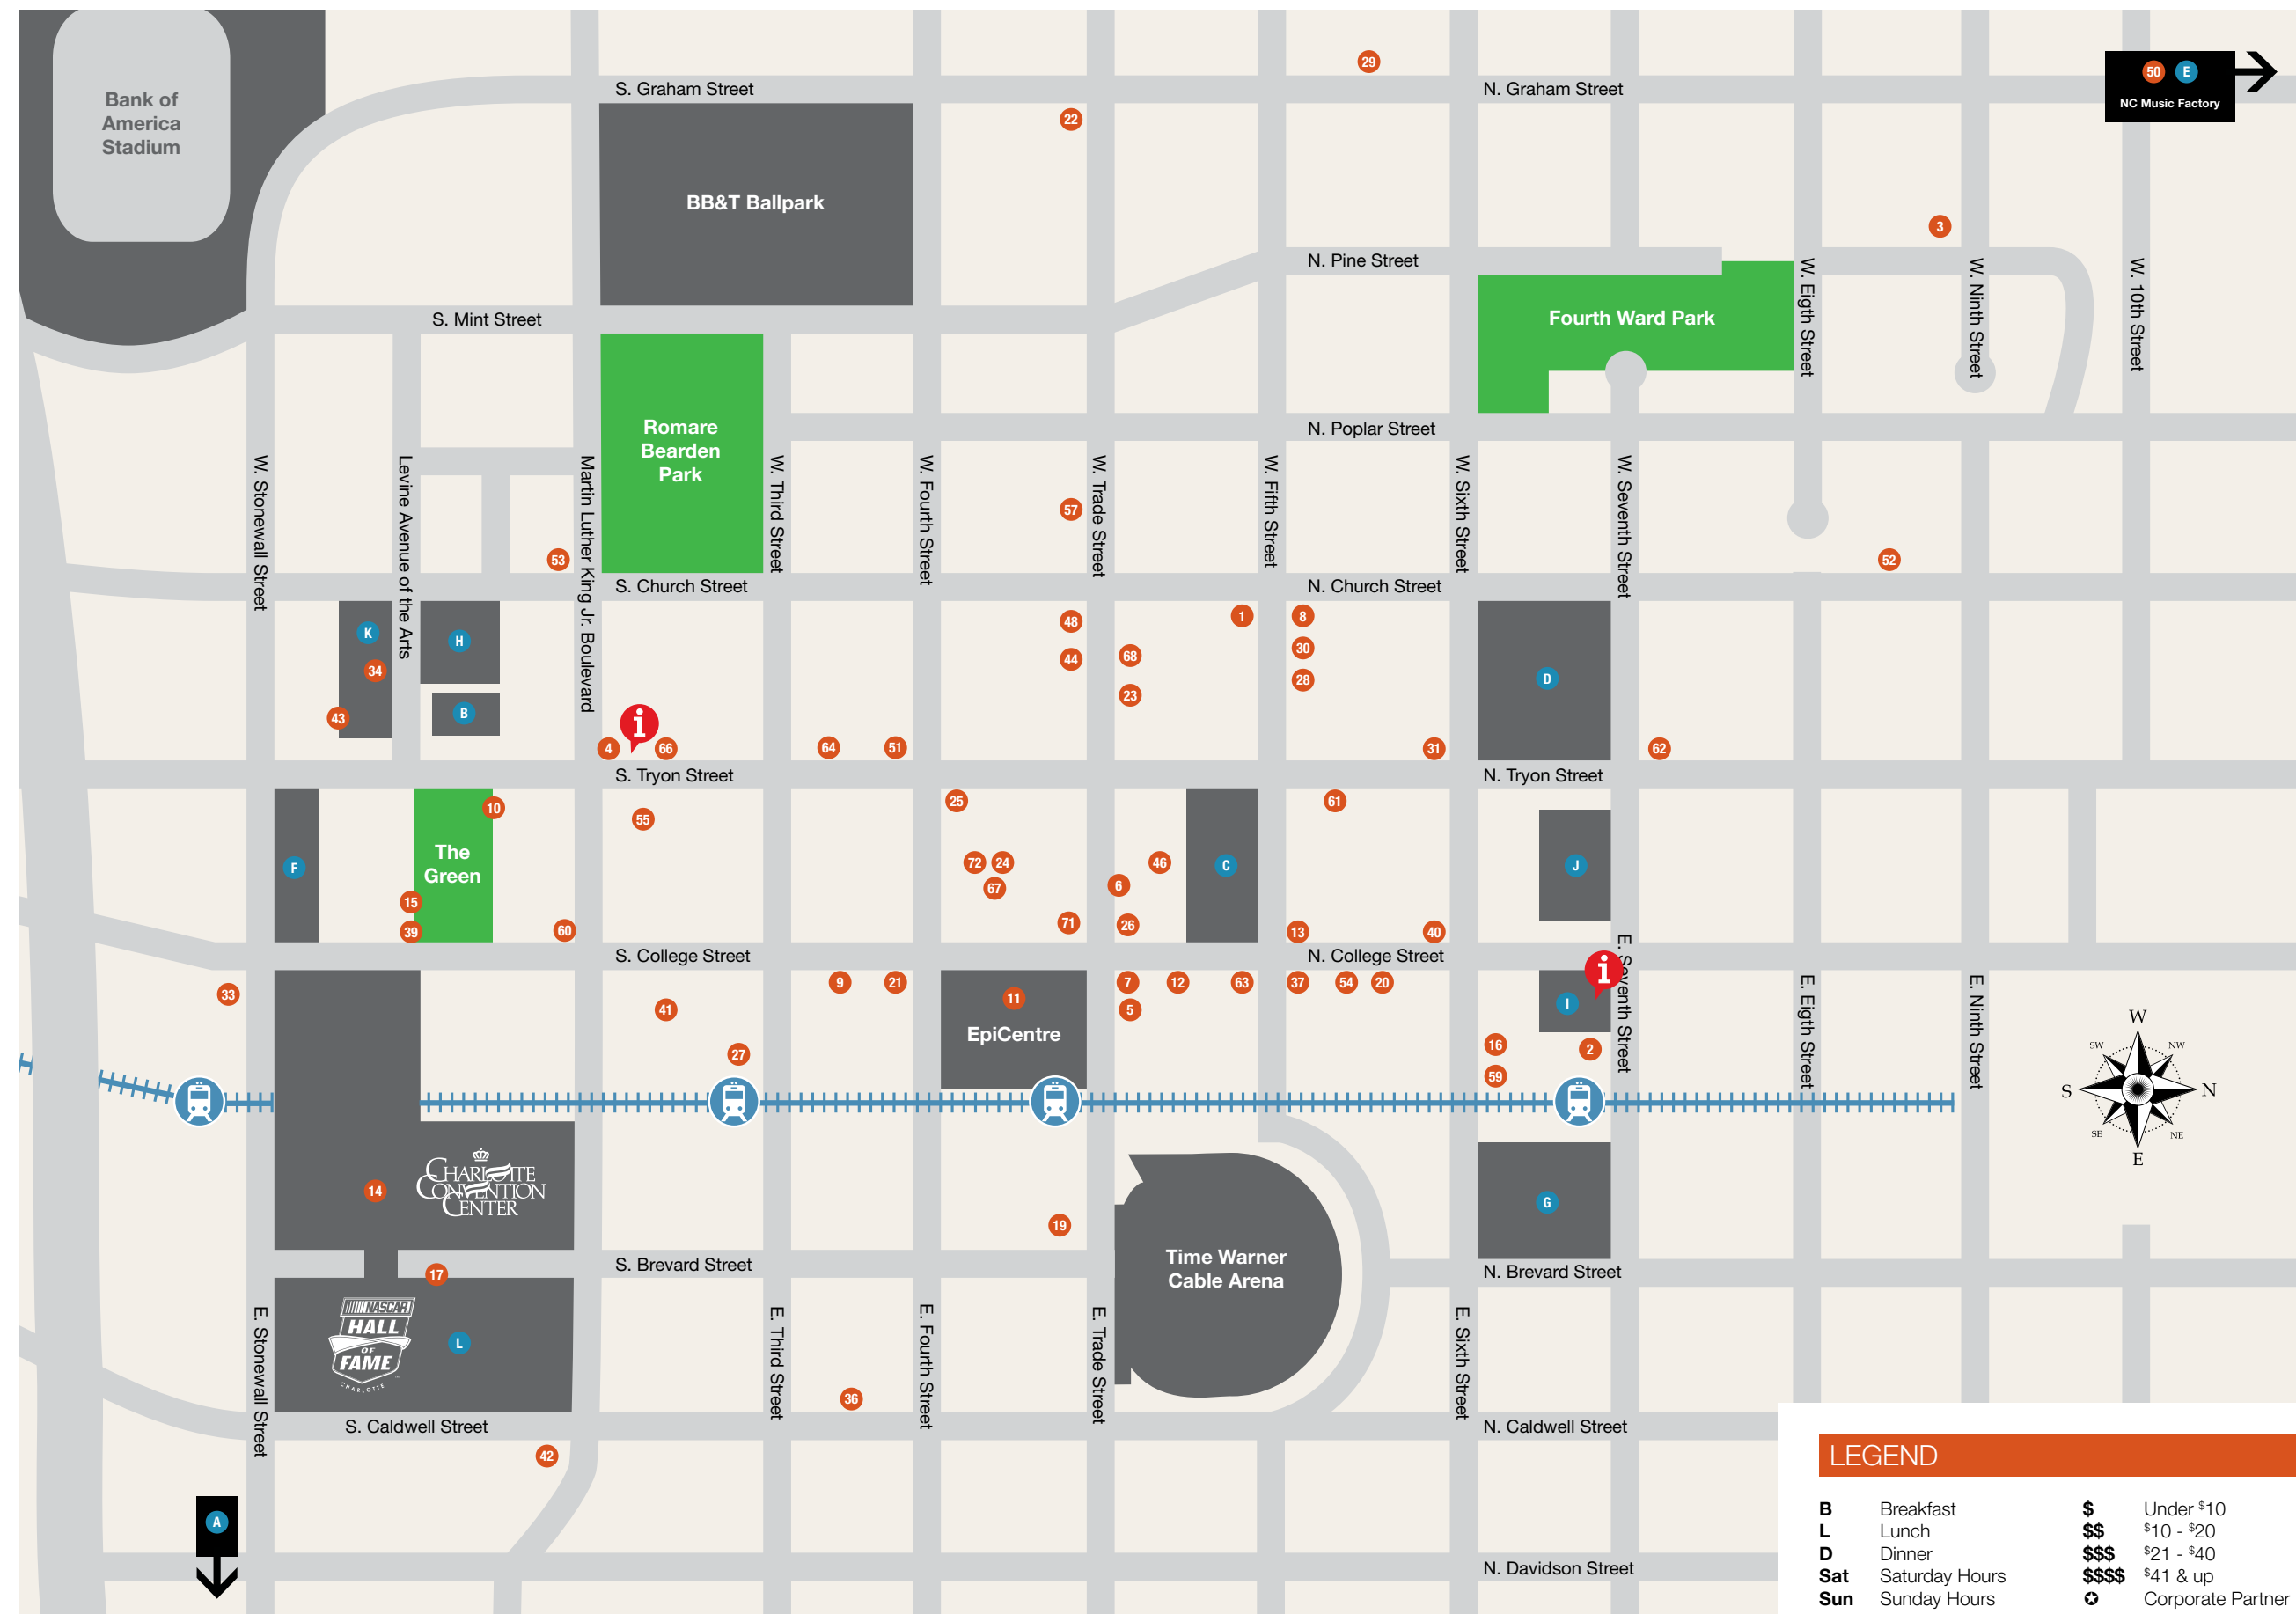

Don't Miss: Sullivan's Steakhouse, Nan & Byron's
